Free Site Set For Garage Sale Season

Spring is just around the corner and you know what that means. Garage sales!

Now you can keep one step ahead of those hordes of bargain hunters and lead them right to your wares. And all for free! How? With vancouver.reuses.com, that's how.

vancouver.reuses.com is a free-to-use web site run by the Recycling Council of B.C. (RCBC) to help promote reuse over refuse. And while you find lots of items listed for free or for sale up to $99, you can also list events, such as garage sales, at no cost.

Here's what you do to list your event for free.

First, make sure you have a working e-mail account you can access. Then go to vancouver.reuses.com. If you don't already have an account, scroll to the top or bottom of the page and click on "create an account". Follow the directions on that page and click submit. The site will send your username and password to the e-mail address you provided during the registration process. Use the information in that e-mail to sign into your new account at vancouver.reuses.com. If you already have an account, simply sign in using your existing username and password.

Now click on "post a listing" at the top or bottom of the page. When the listing page comes up, click on "list an event" and follow the instructions until your listing is up and running. It's as simple as that.

RCBC's goal is to reduce waste through initiatives such as vancouver.reuses.com. Visit and use the site to help reduce waste in B.C. If you have questions about any recycling or waste reduction issue, call the toll-free RCBC Recycling Hotline at 604 R-E-C-Y-C-L-E (732-9253). Operators are standing by 9 am to 4 pm Monday through Friday.
